Report on

“Evolution of the habitable earth”

A lecture on the topic Evolution of the habitable earth was organized on 10th August 2021 at 3.00pm. Dr. M. R. G. Sayyed, Associate professor and Head (Retired), Geology Department, Poona College, Pune was invited for the same. In our solar system earth has a unique position with respect to

1. Distance from the Sun
2. Ample amount of liquid water
3. Desired amount of molecular oxygen
4. Presence of green house gases like carbon dioxide in optimum proportion.

These conditions on the present day earth are favourable for organic life to sustain. However it took long time for such sustainable conditions to exist since the origin of the earth.

Dr. Sayyed lucidly explained the the nature of primordial earth and development of its atmosphere, hydrosphere and biosphere through the geologic time scale.

He also explained the necessity for saving the earth's environment as the climate change is more evident in the modern times because of increasing human's greed rather than need. Total 36 students were benefited with this workshop. This workshop proved to be a valuable learning experience for all participants. The program was coordinated by Asst Prof Prajakta Temkar and vote of thanks were given by Asst. Prof Dhanlaxmi madam.
