Outcomes of Sustainable Development Certificate Course:

After completing this course:

Student gets the information regarding Algorithms, Flowchart And Pseudocode, also they understand how to use it and importance of this .

- Algorithms are the foundation of programming; they allow our device, apps, and websites to make decisions. Similarly, algorithmic thinking requires not only the solution to a problem but steps that can be replicated to find said solution
- It improves the readability of any approach and is one of the best ways to start implementation of an algorithm.
- Algorithmic thinking is a critical problem-solving skill for students to learn. It strengthens the ability of the student to create a process for finding a solution as opposed to focusing on the answer itself.
- Flow chart is a diagrammatic representation of the solution to a given problem but, more importantly, it provides a breakdown of the essential steps to solving the problem. When designing and planning a process, flowcharts can help you identify its essential steps and simultaneously offer the bigger picture of the process
- Pseudocode acts as a bridge between the program and the algorithm and flowchart. It works as rough documentation and so other developers can understand the program of another when the pseudocode has been written.

- These skills are essential for success in the digital age, and they can be developed through hands-on experience with AI tools and applications
- Artificial intelligence (AI) refers to computer systems capable of performing complex tasks that historically only a human could do, such as reasoning, making decisions, or solving problems.
- AI drives down the time taken to perform a task. It enables multi-tasking and eases the workload for existing resources. AI enables the execution of hitherto complex tasks without significant cost outlays.
- AI can play a vital role in helping to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)
